

Posted: March 13, 2015

Art comes alive at St. Gregory

Students from St. Gregory Catholic School's Grade 6/7 class put on a "Living Art Museum". Students had 2 months to research a famous artist of their choice, select a piece from their collection, and find a way to bring the painting to life. Some groups re-painted the painting, leaving an opening for their mouths, while other groups used costume to bring the painting to life. Parents, staff and students had the opportunity to speak with the curators and the paintings themselves to learn more about the artist, the style of artwork, the painting, and more interesting facts. A great day was had by all.